The SKV brand brake calipers

Caliper construction diagram

An SKV brand floating, single-piston brake caliper.

It is the most commonly used caliper type in the majority of passenger cars and consists of two main components: the carrier and the proper caliper. The brake caliper carrier also called the bracket, is fixed to the steering knuckle with bolts, while the caliper is attached to the carrier with guide bushings.

THE ACCESSORIES

Each SKV brake caliper kit includes synthetic grease dedicated to lubricating bushing guides and brake pistons. Furthermore, depending on the model and technical specifications, the package consists of mounting springs and washers.

e.g. 23SKV073

The mounting spring ensures the correct operating position of the brake caliper.

Copper washers guarantee a sealed connection between the brake hose and the caliper.

Synthetic grease allows for lubricating the moving parts in the caliper.

THE NUMBERING

Car manufacturers and service centres recommend replacing brake calipers on both sides of the axle simultaneously. The SKV brand uses an intuitive form of writing the product symbol, facilitating hassle-free selection of the axle's other side caliper counterpart.

DIVERSITY OF COLORS

Select models from among 2,500 references of the SKV brake calipers are available in various colours. The powder coating, used during the manufacturing stage guarantees long-term preservation of the parts colour. Their aesthetics and durability make them a popular choice among customers looking for more than just plain functionality but also attractive appearance.

Close to 100 models of the SKV brake calipers are available in five colors: silver, yellow, red, blue and black.
