Where great ideas grow.

2023

20 years of great ideas.

When I started Dreamfarm 20 years ago, it was because I wanted to create new and useful things. Clever tools that made so much sense, they wouldn't just be a way to do it, they'd become the way jobs get done.

Growing from a guy in a garage to a global business, you can bet your bottom dollar I've been thrown my fair share of lemons. As if creating a design company from thin air wasn't hard enough, we've overcome countless setbacks, survived the global financial crisis, our office has flooded twice, and of course we've all navigated the nightmare that was (and still is) Covid.

From the outside looking in, we may have looked like a business that's always had it together. We've designed more than 60 products, we've won dozens of design awards, we're distributed in dozens of countries, sold in thousands of stores, and have always seemed to grow from strength to strength. But I want every owner-operator, founder, and entrepreneur reading this to know it hasn't been easy. I've lost count of how many sleepless nights I've had staring at the ceiling working out how I'm going to pay wages or make it through the next quarter. Without a doubt, growing Dreamfarm has been the toughest yet most rewarding experience of my life. But I haven't done it alone.

I often tell a story about when I met my wife, she introduced me to her friends as "a kitchenware inventor" and one of her friends reached into his 2nd drawer to pull out his favourite kitchen tool. "You know what you need to make? One of these! This is the greatest thing ever," he said. I thought they were playing a prank because, of course, he was holding up our potato masher, Smood.

As any inventor will tell you, that feeling of knowing you've created something that others find useful is the greatest feeling on Earth. It's a high that can last weeks. I joke heroin junkies don't know what they are missing out on. I still yearn for that feeling. But when the chips have been down or I have found myself staring at that ceiling again, let me tell you, chasing that feeling is not what got me through it. What got me through it was my team.

If there's anything I want to say after 20 years of Dreamfarm, it's thank you, to my family, our customers, our retailers, and our suppliers, but most of all, to the insanely talented and hard-working team of people who have worked and still work at Dreamfarm. You have given me your time, your ideas, your trust and support, even your life's work, always with the belief that what we were working on was, and is, worth it. Thank you for the laughs and the lessons. I am more grateful than you'll ever know.

If you can't appreciate sweet until you've tasted sour, I would also like to thank life for the giant bag of lemons it has thrown at me. Together with the amazing people who have come into my life, we've squeezed the living shit out of every single one of them. Has the juice been worth the squeeze? You bet.

Thank you all, and cheers to the next 20 years.

The Story of Dreamfarm

Once upon a time in a land down under a twenty-two-year-old Lego-loving-MacGyver-wannabe named Alex, took his first invention, Grindenstèin, down to the local markets to seek his fortune.

As luck would have it, on that day the owner of a nearby kitchenware store happened upon Alex with his creation. 'Hooray!' the man exclaimed, 'people have been asking me for something that does just this, but alas, no one has ever made one. I'd love to sell these in my store!'

It was on that day in 2003 that Dreamfarm, the problem-solving company that grows ideas into inventions, was born.

Three years of selling Grindenstèins by day, and assembling them by night, would pass before Alex had gathered enough pennies to launch Dreamfarm's next big idea, Scizza, the pizza scissors! One great idea had grown into two, and soon inventions three and four would follow. As if by magic, Dreamfarm was now available in over 500 stores, all of them hungry to see what nifty new things Dreamfarm would dream up next.

Meanwhile, on a cattle farm not so far away, Phil, a clever curly-haired kid who never could sit still, was finishing up design school and applied to join Dreamfarm. Alex and Phil quickly discovered they shared a rock-solid belief that great design must solve a problem and to be the best, you must do what has never been done before.

Together they worked to invent, design, create and make their ideas into the world's best and most useful things.

Like all great ideas do, Dreamfarm was growing.

Next to join the team was Cate, Alex's never-could-keep-a-secret sister, who would make it her mission in life to make sure the whole world knew what they were up to. A decade later, through blood, sweat, tears and Cate singing from the rooftops about their great ideas, Dreamfarm products could be found in thousands of stores around the world.

These days, the team at Dreamfarm is bigger, but they still do all of their inventing and design work themselves in sunny Brisbane, Australia, and they now have over forty original products to their name. If you're ever in town, you should pop in and say 'G'day'. Cate would love to tell you all about their latest creations, and while you'll have to do a little searching for them, somewhere out the back among all the tools and prototypes, you'll still find Alex and Phil in their workshop, tinkering away on their never-ending search for problems that need solving.

Different by design.

Award-winning design is not an accident. It starts with identifying problems that are worth solving, obsessively prototyping and refining solutions that leave no millimetre to chance. Ultimately, it's about creating something new that seems so obvious, people will wonder how they ever lived without it.

For some, ideas like these are a once in a lifetime flash of genius.

At Dreamfarm, it's what we do.

Jot just holds it there is a suction hook that sticks on anywhere, to hold anything.

 x4

101 uses. Stuck it and see.

Jot is the hang-it-all suction hook with countless uses. It sucks or sticks on to hold, hang, or hook just about anything, anywhere.

Designed to suck. And stick.

Jot works best on shiny surfaces like glass or tiles. To use Jot on rough surfaces, suction it to the disc provided and use the tape on the disc to stick your Jot anywhere.

A weight off your mind.

Time, surface texture, and cleanliness affect how much weight Jot can hold but we've tested Jots on mirrors holding over 450g / 1.0lb and they have stuck for years.

A trick worth jotting down.

Jot is made from PVC, which has a memory. If it becomes flat after being stuck down for a long time, a few minutes in hot water will return Jot to its original suction cup shape.

Make sure the suction cup is clean before sticking it to a smooth, flat surface. Clean by wiping it with damp cloth.
