Bokashi Organko circular story of bio-waste

PROBLEM

SOLUTION

57%
of bio-waste is not even recycled.

The next step towards responsible food management is reusing it with the help of fermentation with effective microorganisms according to the Bokashi method.

Organko Daily also serves as a bio-waste bin in which you collect food waste and empty it once a day into Bokashi Organko composters. This way, the fermentation will be even better, and you will soon get bokashi liquid from Bokashi composters, with which you can clean drains or water your plants. Fermented food waste will make for an excellent compost base full of nutrients and minerals.

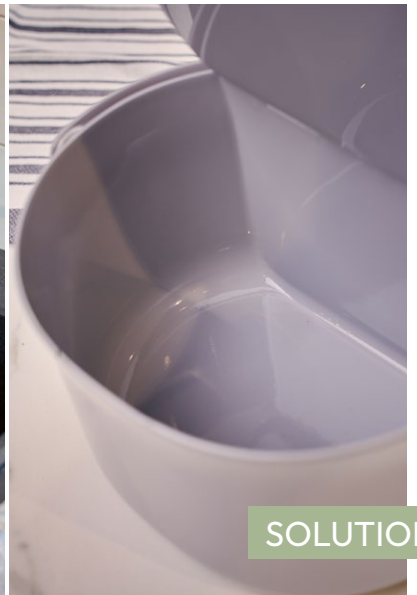

Easy cleaning

PROBLEM

“
Waste bins are smelly and hard to clean.

Forget all the dirt when cleaning the bin in which you collect bio-waste. Due to its smooth inner surface and rounded edges, you can clean the product with a paper towel and some water, but there is nothing wrong with washing it in the dishwasher for more thorough results.

PROBLEM

502 kg municipal waste
per person in 2019 in EU.

Organko Daily is not just a bin. It is made from post-consumer plastic. In other words, it is recycled plastic, made of discarded products, which are collected in dedicated containers for packaging or plastic. Organko Daily is thus a reflection of our and your respect for Planet Earth for a better and healthier future.

Use Organko Daily and take care of two things – less discarded plastics and consistent recycling of bio-waste, which has been a growing global problem in the recent years. We believe that it is time to move on and make big changes for the better starting with small steps.

Simple one-hand emptying

“
For emptying
my trash
I need to use
my both hands.

SOLUTION

Organko Daily with its option of emptying the bin with just one hand welcomes you to a new era of biowaste management. The entire process won't take any longer than the time it will take you to read the following sentence: You grab, open, turn, empty, close.
